Policy Making in Practice Workshop

13th March 2025 | Virtual Learning

Dear Gilbert,

The International Centre for Parliamentary Studies would like to invite you and your colleagues to participate in our Policy Making in Practice Workshop which will be held on 13th March 2025 (Virtual Learning). Below you will find the details of the course:

Course Overview

The workshop on Policy Making in Practice will be delivered by our trainers alongside Members of the House of Lords.

Learners will develop practical skills in relation to the UK Parliamentary Process such as developing a policy project proposition and the challenges involved in creating new legislation. The session will analyse bodies such as the Office of the Parliamentary Counsel (OPC) that play a more practical role in the parliamentary process, and how legislation is drafted and presented to the different stakeholders. Learners will develop an understanding of a project's 'lifecycle', how to manage the development of a policy project, how to update and review policy implementation and the role of external influences.

Distinguished Speakers:

- Lord Peter Lilley, Member of the House of Lords & former Shadow Chancellor of the Exchequer
- Mike Freer, former Justice Minister & Government Whip
- Barbara Piotrowska, Lecturer in Public Policy, King's College London

Learning Outcomes

- Learn about the Policy Cycle, and how policy should be drafted, implemented and assessed
- Understand the role civil servants play in policy-making, and what best practice looks like
- Improve critical understanding of what qualities are important for policy making
- Gain insight into the challenges that new legislation often encounters
- Develop knowledge of how policy can be better implemented and updated
- Discuss the role that external influence has over policy-making
