LEARNING DELIVERY MODALITY (LDM) ARTIFACTS COMPILATIONS:
Reflection of Teacher's abilities and achievements?

School Head Teacher III

"The dogmas of the quiet past are inadequate to the stormy present. The occasion is piled high with difficulty, and we must rise with the occasion. As our case is new, we must think anew and act anew". We must disenthral ourselves and then we shall save our country.

Upon reading this statement from Abraham Lincoln, I can't help but think that indeed as part of the educational sector which is greatly affected by the pandemic, I must act anew. This new normal (pandemic day) is not only tedious on the part of the teachers but also a great challenge on our part as school heads. We have encountered lots of problems starting from module reproduction, module translation, module distribution etc. Our school Maintenance Operation and other Expenses (MOOE) too is limited that we need to adjust our budget to suffice for the need for coupon bonds, ink, printer and other materials needed for module reproduction and distribution. Good thing about this is despite the hardship that all of us are facing, there are still good Samaritans who are always willing to extend their help by donating things that filled in our needs and also those who volunteer (Bayaning Guro or Learning Support Aid)) to help us assist in teaching our learners how to read and guiding them in answering the modules.

Because of the pandemic, the mode of educating our pupils shifted from face to face interaction to modular distance learning modality. The DepEd then at the end of the school year asked for the compilation of artifacts if these was properly implemented.

The said collection of artifacts somehow reflects our abilities and what we have achieved this year but it cannot fully represents all the efforts and actions of our teachers for the realization of their mission and work.

However, just like what Lincoln had said, "Act and Think ANEW as our situation is NEW". Then I believe, we need to adopt the system and adapt to what's in it despite the things that this pandemic has brought to all of us
